Cattle Thieves

Rounded Up

On Wednesday of last week
James Russell, of Pincher City, journeyed to Cowley in search of some cattle he had missed. He traced them from his home to the farm of Harvey Bouthillier, about two miles west of Cowley, where he found Hollie Branch, Bouthillier's daughter, and his son, and Bouthillier was arrested, but Bouthillier had disappeared. Mr.

Russell, has missed cattle twice before, and set these few losses for a kind of a trap. It has worked, and the rustlers will be brought to justice in the present time.

Bouthillier was arrested on Tuesday afternoon, and after appearance before Justice Heicher at the police court, Landwehr, was committed for trial at next session of the supreme court.

L. H. Putnam, of Blairmore, appeared for both the accused.

If you have young children you the stomach are their most common ailment. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best. It has been used for many years, and is

Women commercial travellers are the ones who are most troubled faced. Waitresses, typists, servants, teachers, maid-servants, shop-girls—one and all, are troubled with a dead complexion, and a dead body.

Women commercial travellers are the ones who are most troubled faced. Waitresses, typists, servants, teachers, maid-servants, shop-girls—one and all, are troubled with a dead complexion, and a dead body.

But perhaps another reason for the dead complexion is "rest woman" is the fact that during an evening's work she usually stays at hotel, and the food is good. Good, known, too, that smoking is death, and that the woman who could never get away as she does in a bath-tub and cup of tea lunch, which she has to have, often loses her inheritance roses on a pastry tray.

Even the commercial woman loses her inheritance roses on a pastry tray.

A plate of ham or tongue, a crisp roll and butter, and a glass of water would be a good meal, and infinitely more digestible.

Rinsing the hard roll crust does the teeth, but the water should be warm, and sipping the water after, not during, the meal, is the wisest precaution to be taken to keep the body in appearance.

Coffee and tea are, besides being incongruous in the middle of a day, are also hurtful beverages for the lungs.

If economy must be studied, both the man and woman who possesses a home should make it a golden rule to have a abdominal exercise. The man, all the meat should not be eaten rapidly, and never taken in bed, if the consumer has to fast, he should not do so, but apart from the fact that directly on rousing from sleep the digestive organs are not in a fit condition, sudden action after a meal—spells disaster to the digestive system.

If possible rise early enough to allow of reading or morning paper, then sit up, and have a good breakfast.

After a

Faint Heart

Never Won Fair Lady

By EVERETT MACBURNIE

Alice and I had for some time been excellent friends, but it never occurred to me to look upon her as anything more than a friend. She was a great girl, and I was a good boy, but most men who come along are but one. One day she surprised me by

"John, why have you never made love to me?"

"You mean why have I never joined the innumerable caravan of those who have made love to you, and have gone on their way, madder, but wiser?"

"Nonsense!"

"On the contrary, hit the truth. You don't know that if I made love to you and you sent me on like the others our companionship would be spoiled?"

"What do you mean?"

"I do know; it's the inevitable result in such cases."

"How do you know I would do you?"

"I don't, but I'd bet ten to one you would."

She made no reply to this. We were sitting on a rustic bench in the garden, and were trying with a certain amount of the last of the summer, to temper it against her lips directly under her nose. I was very well satisfied with it. It became there something in it suggestive of a kiss, the lips and the tongue being very much alike.

"Alice, you are a beauty. We've been mighty good friends, I've felt complimented that you've thought so much of me that you don't care to take a few weeks off from us. I'm not going away tomorrow, and I don't know whether I'll come back or not. If I do, I'll bring my own chum here. It's an old story, but it's true."

"Suppose you find me married?"

"In that case you will still be my friend Alice, and we'll be good friends. And I doubt your husband is a good man, but he's good for his wife."

"I will, I'm in a rather bad way,"

"I know, Alice, that marriage is a lot of difference in friendships. Several of my men chums had married, and I have seen the difference in their ships as destroyed by wedlock. At any rate none of them were ever the same afterward. Alice didn't say what had happened to her. I have seen the same against her lips in a fantasilizing fashion and it's awful. I have seen the same that she has broken them. I know that which divides the realms of friendship from those of love and war, and I'm sure that her lips are a strangle."

"It is said that love begets love. At any rate there was that in her action to nominate me. And yet I know her as well as I do. Alice, when I first met her I had man hang about her for a few months, sometimes for a few days, and I was again to be seen in her company. During the bunting of the bee about the leaves, I had called the bee a "fool. Shallow, and a fool."

"What is the pleasure you take in leading a man to make love to you, encouraging him to press you, and then to kiss him? Is he bad?"

"I deny that I have ever done such a thing."

This was a pretty definite statement. I wondered if after all there wasn't some truth in it. Did those fellow countrymen of ours know that it was not intended? Was there something in Alice's treatment of them that looked like a secret? I was not thinking of Alice, but was not thinking of her either.

considered a big enough investment;if Calgary had a water system or did the residents of 5th Street go down to the river to wash clothes; if there was a post office, a bank, a hotel, a theatre, a population of 2,000 people, etc., etc.The A.B.C. holds a Halloween

John P. Irish rejoined, in so good that he had to say:

"Not a thing. A wouldn't believe me if you uttered it. You can't tell the truth!"

In that case, replied Irish, per-

On the War Path
Good afternoon, Johnson, said the sister young man, who had come to the house in the sweet cause of charity. Why don't you come to our Sunday school? You are a good boy, and we have joined and we are going to have a lovely party at Christmas.

"I am not invited, sir," said Johnson.

"Has a boy called Johnson, with red hair?"

"Yes, he does, said the nice young lady, and he is good to like it." He's such a good little boy.

"Hub, is he?" muttered Johnny. Well, I've got to come. I've been looking for him for months and never knew where to find him before.

"Japan, which a few years ago exported no cotton underclothing at all, now is probably the largest producer in the Indian market and has greatly encroached on the trade of the United Kingdom.

"Doctor," said the lady patient, I suffer from a sore throat.

"Everybody does, madam, replied the fussy old M.D.; but you would probably have a great deal more without them."

"Tommy, said his mother, grandmother is very ill. Can't you go in and cheer her up?"

"Tommy, and he went into the sick room. But in a few moments he came out disconsolate.

"Cousin Tommy, he said—she seemed to get worse."

"What did you say, dear?" asked mother.

"I asked her if she would like to go to her funeral."

He Looked Ill

Little John was a man of stature and looked rather fat and out of sorts, which led his school-fellows to tease, and cross-question him.

"What's the matter with you?" asked a big boy with a bullying and swaggering gait.

"I don't get any doctor at all, said Johnny. I never see one."

"I don't like the other. You don't have to take any medicine?"

"I don't, replied Johnny. That's all you know about it. My father's a dentist, my mother's a homoeopath, and my grandfather's a doctor. An ambulance class, grandfather believes resuscitation from drowning, grandpa's a chemist, and he's a chemist, advertised, my uncle is a veterinary surgeon, and—he added, almost in tears, they all practise on me."

The arm of the United Kingdom is 12,000 square miles.

According to the last census, there are 12,000,000 people in Egypt.

The total number of officers, men and boys in our navy exceeds 160,000.

Our education throughout the United Kingdom costs the ratepayers $100,000,000 annually.

Reason Enough

"Did your mother say you were going to give up the courage to propose?"

"Yes. No, but I got a teacher who pulls him."

Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in Cough.

Slow

Nellie—is that fellow of yours going to get up the courage to propose?"

"I guess not. He's like an honest garter."

"Xmas—A hon. glass?"

"Belle—You the more time he has to put in, the more he'll have to see me with one toe."

The transition from winter's cold to summer's heat frequently puts a strain upon the system that produces intestinal complications, always painful to the system. The most common form of disorder is dysentery, to which many are prone in the spring and summer months. The best way to use in subduing this painful disorder is to drink Minard's Liniment Cough in standard ready, sold everywhere.

Yes, said the small boy to the reporter, who was looking for some news to put in his paper, neither fell down nor did he break his legs.

"What?" asked the reporter. "Don't be too fond of your legs?"

"I didn't, but I had to return the whole boy. The legs belonged to a table which mother had brought to scratch his head!"

Woman is considered the weaker sex, she remarked, and yet—

"I'm not as bad as you think."

"Jacques—Six feet, nine inches."

"Jacques—Six feet nine inches?"

That is nothing. In our barracks there are young children. There is no other medicine so good and no other medicine gives the permanent relief that they are also safe, safe," Mrs. Lagrange, a widow, said to the reporter. "The Tablets are the best medicine a doctor can give to his patients. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers every day at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brooklyn, N. Y."

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS

SPARKLING WATER, cool and sweet, refreshes the farmer who builds a

Concrete Well or Tank

THE FARMER, above all others, appreciates good water. He drinks more water than the city man. The city-dweller is dependent upon the public water-supply for the purity of his water, while the farmer can have his own private source of water, and thus be sure that it is pure and healthful.

MAN hasn't found a better drink than cool, water, properly collected and stored. But in order to keep water fresh and pure, a tank or well casing that will keep out every possible impurity must be used.

CONCRETE IS THE IDEAL MATERIAL FOR TANKS AND WELL-CASINGS.

IT is absolutely water-tight, protecting your water from seepage of all kinds. It cannot rot or crumble. It is easily cleaned inside. Time and water, instead of causing it to decay, actually make it stronger.

OUR Farmers' Information Department will furnish you with all the information you desire to have a well or tank built to order. From a pencil sketch to a detailed drawing, we will be pleased to furnish you with all the information you desire to have a well or tank built to order.

Council Meeting

The regular meeting of the Blairmore council was held on Tuesday night, the Mayor, councillors—Duth, Sinclair McLeod, Sparks and secretary-trasurer Shear being present.

The minutes of previous meeting were read and adopted.

A communication was received from Messrs. Sick & Simpson requesting that steps be taken to grade the street in front of the Alberta hotel so as to prevent water from the street running over their sidewalk.

Two letters from the Pacific Coast Pipe Co. were read referring to pipe being shipped for the town.

Two letters from the department of municipal affairs, relating to the By-Law No. 16 and the mode of debt-burden sale were read and received.

Campbell & Fawcett wrote stating that Mike Rose had withdrawn garnishee proceedings against E. Morino.

Western Canada Fire Underwriters Association wrote in reply to secretary's recent letter relating to the By-Law No. 16 and the mode of debt-burden sale were read and received.

During a lengthy session, Mr. George very gently impressed upon his hearers the fact that he had been chosen as "Secretary PRO TEM."

Three cheers for France, three cheers for Great Britain, three cheers for Uncle Sam, and a similar dose for the Land of the Maple Leaf brought a most enjoyable event to a close at midnight.

Shamrocks Bid Farewell

The members of the Shamrock Club had an enjoyable "At Home" on Thanksgiving night, at which a number of guests were present.

The object of the gathering was to tender a farewell to Mr. G. E. Taylor, engineer, who is about to leave on an extended visit to the Old Country.

A sumptuous turkey supper was served, after which a lengthy toast list assisted the disposal of a goodly supply of standard liquors and a whiff of smoke. The toast was interspersed with songs, marches, etc., and the display of vocal and other talents was the best, yet, known to this heavenly bower.

At a time when the illustrious Goat mountain, the already shattered Tarts and the growing Crows' Nest seemed to shoulder and the choral warblings which echoed through the crevices of the clubhouse. Special among them were the French national anthem by Messrs. Menard and Peard; "Dixie" by Misses Chester Pegg and W. Graham; "God Save the King" by Misses Scholfield and Ayers; and "The Maple Leaf Forever" by Messrs. George Birico, Harrington, Glow and others.

One notable feature of the gathering was the fact that the dons of many of the world, England, France, United States and Canada, were about equally represented.

During a lengthy speech, Mr. George very gently impressed upon his hearers the fact that he had been chosen as "Secretary PRO TEM."

Three cheers for France, three cheers for Great Britain, three cheers for Uncle Sam, and a similar dose for the Land of the Maple Leaf brought a most enjoyable event to a close at midnight.

To Erect Temporary Rink

A largely attended meeting of those interested in a rink was held on Thursday evening last. The rink promoters declared that it would cost upwards of $200 to put in a pipe system from the water main to the site of the proposed rink, and that before the lateness of the season to undertake the work, it was considered that the business of the coming winter would scarcely warrant such expense.

The new rink site has been cleared up and the building material on the spot, and it was the intention of the promoters to erect a rink for the coming winter that could be covered and converted into an up-to-date rink in a fair for the future seasons.

However, it was decided to make application to the C. P. R. for a site on which to erect a temporary rink for the approaching season, and we understand that such permission has already been granted and the work of erecting the temporary rink commenced on Tuesday.

The location is on the south side of Victoria Street, immediately opposite the Cosmopolitan hotel, where the temporary rink was located last season. Several of the hotels and business places have contributed liberally towards the expense of the temporary rink.

Successful Banquet

The Anniversary banquet Club had an enjoyable "At Home" on Thanksgiving night, at which a number of guests were present.

The object of the gathering was to tender a farewell to Mr. G. E. Taylor, engineer, who is about to leave on an extended visit to the Old Country.

A sumptuous turkey supper was served, after which a lengthy toast list assisted the disposal of a goodly supply of standard liquors and a whiff of smoke. The toast was interspersed with songs, marches, etc., and the display of vocal and other talents was the best, yet, known to this heavenly bower.

After full justice had been administered to the numerous dishes provided, a list of toasts were announced in order. The toast of "The King and Country" was proposed by W. J. Bartlett, N. G., and responded to in the singing of the national anthem. Dr. A. H. Baker proposed Oddfellows, which was responded to by P. W. Doubt, D. G. M., who intimated briefly the origin and history of the "Three Links." Miss Williams responded to the toast of the visitors after which the health of the visitors was proposed in an able manner by Jas. M. Carter, and responded to by bright and whooping addresses from Rev. J. Maclean Benton, of Blairmore; Rev. W. T. Young, of Frank; and Mr. A. E. Ottewell, B. A. of Edmonton. Mr. Baer Green delivered a treat in one of his popular songs, which all enjoyed. "The Town was ably proposed by Mr. Bigelow and replied to by Mayor H. E. Lyon who gave a brief history of the first habitat of the place now so well known as Blairmore, the town which has the best opportunity of any town in southern Alberta. The original occupants of the first house built on the Blairmore townsite many years ago had the honour of being conspicuous among the gathering at the present time. That house had stood undisturbed as a prominent landmark of the town until just the past year when true hands transformed it into a drifting heap of ashes. Mr. Lyon spoke glowingly of the promising future of the town naming all the different resources, the time, cement, coal, brick, etc., which were being developed at present, and the cheering news that inside of the next six or eight months our electric railway system would be in full swing and be the means of unclogging the trials of the young men who at present were footloose the roads between Frank or Coleman and the Great Metropolis, or vice versa, in their chase of the so-called "leaders." After another piano solo by Miss Williams, Mr. Brisco paid a tribute to "The Ladies," to which Mrs. J. F. Lane ably responded. The programme concluded at 1.15 p.m. with "God Save The King."

The programme was a success and the audience enjoyed the entertainment.
